

GOOD SHOW, BOSWORTH...

WOW! What can we say other than a huge thank you to absolutely everyone for supporting our village show... again!! None of this would be possible without the support and encouragement of our sponsors, volunteers, exhibitors and those who came to see what all the fuss was about and generally enjoy an afternoon out meeting and seeing family and friends, both old and new!

A BIG thank you to the people who helped to prepare the hall and clean up after, those who baked cakes and helped on the day... in the kitchen, on the tombola, raffle, taking exhibit entries, judging the entries and awarding the cards and trophies and so much more. I would also like to take this opportunity to thank our sponsors: Husbands Bosworth Parish Council, Throgmorton Associates Wealth Management Limited (Enderby), Chris and Abby Ascough (Ascoughs Bistro), Richard and Debbie Brown (North Kilworth Football Club and Industrial Laundry Equipment) and Dr. and Mrs. Murphy. In addition to this we had Jan, Mel and Keith from Blooming Lovely, Lois Pedley's Art, Faye Deane's Body Shop plus a card stand and second hand books on sale outside the Village Hall. All of which were a very welcome addition to our show and a welcome contribution towards the amazing raffle prizes on offer. A big thank you to our judges, from the Leicester & Leicestershire Horticultural Judges Guild, who had 329 exhibits [last year 321] from 74 entrants to judge. What was truly amazing this year, was the number of adult (and children) art and craft entries. I never realised what artistic and skilled people we have in this village (and beyond) and at this rate we will need a separate art exhibition!!

The show is a local community non-profitmaking event, and has been for the last 140 years. The support from donations and volunteers helps to keep the show running. Costs for printing the schedules, judges, hall hire, trophies and rosettes, tombola and raffle prizes refreshments are all paid for from sponsorship and proceeds of the show and any surplus will be used either to replace show equipment or to help fund local village good causes. However, the heart of the show is not about how much money we make, but about the community coming together and entering into the spirit of light-hearted competition, admiring the different exhibits (or checking out the competition), winning on the tombola/raffle or simply enjoying a cup of tea and a homemade cake and catching up on village gossip!

Prizes were awarded as follows:

Overall Points Winner John Dawson

Best Exhibit in Show David Dunmore

Best Allotment Exhibit Sue & Kully Dhillon

Once again thank you, and we look forward to welcoming you and your families next year. And so, a provisional date has been earmarked for next year... August 6th 2023 – SAVE THE DATE

TRANSPORTER WOES

Welford Action Group (WAG) remind us that they are still monitoring the movement of car transporters on routes to and from the Bruntingthorpe vehicle storage facility. Bruntingthorpe have a recognised traffic route, which directs traffic away from the A5199 corridor, along Pincet Lane and to M1 junction 19. Recently the group has noted increased traffic and has established a line of contact for reporting complaints from the local communities. WAG are urging anyone spotting car transporters travelling along the A5199 to record the vehicle details, registration number and operator and report it to: tptcomplaints@bruntingthorpe.atlassian.net

BUGLE POSTBAG

From Tori Haines, Rural Community Council

I work for the Leicester and Leicestershire Rural Community Council. You may have seen our Rural Café Connect van in the village during August, engaging with the village community and helping to tackle loneliness and isolation in rural communities.

We will be visiting Husbands Bosworth again during September on the following Wednesdays: September 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th when we will be serving hot drinks, including barista coffee, from 10.15am to 11.45am.

My colleague Emma Andrew will be with the van, parked in the Brook House Care Home, Bell Lane car park while engaging with the Little Cup of Joy project with residents there.

I will be attending some sessions, engaging with anyone over 18 years living in the area and unemployed with the Work Live Leicestershire project. This project offers free one to one support and advice on employment, training, business startup and volunteering. All village residents are also welcome to come along for just a chat and a free hot drink, helping us to start conversations and tackle loneliness.

We look forward to hearing your thoughts on our visit and we hope to meet you on one of the dates. For more information please email me at: thaines@ruralcc.org.uk

POLICE FILE

The team dedicated to rural policing in Leicestershire and Rutland is expanding from three to eight officers to provide extra resources to target, disrupt and address rural crime. PC Kelly Tones, who will be working from Market Harborough Police Station, is passionate about the countryside and understands the challenges of living and working in a rural setting. She has been around animals all her life, not only helping out on a friend's farm with livestock rearing and husbandry but she also owns and rides horses. For the last three years Kelly has been the dedicated neighbourhood officer at Market Harborough putting her knowledge about rural communities and skills to good use leading a complicated investigation, with the RSPCA (England & Wales) and others, into animal cruelty against badgers and dogs that led to the suspect being charged.

WILD ABOUT BOSWORTH

Willowherbs - Rosebay and Great Hairy
Chamaenerion Angustifolium and Epilobium Hirsutum

A two-for-one article this month... Willowherbs are common wildflowers that flourish in open spaces. While they are similar in height and colouring, they are easily identified. Surprisingly, early in the 18th century, rosebay was considered a rare flower. However, land clearance for railways and Second World War bomb craters provided the perfect environment for the plant to thrive. Indeed, in the southeast, it's known as 'bombweed' and its remarkable ability to re-establish vegetation in barren landscapes is even used in areas damaged by oil spills. The eye-catching spike of pink flowers matures into pods that release thousands of fluffy seeds to the four winds, and it is a characteristic of these seeds that they remain viable in the soil for a year or two; awaiting their chance to germinate.

The Giant Hairy Willowherb, as its name suggests, is the tallest willowherb and its robust stalks are covered in downy hairs. It grows best in damp, open locations. Both it, and rosebay, grow around the pond in our Millennium Wood. Its large purple-pink flowers have four notched petals and a prominent four-lobed white stigma. To avoid self-fertilisation, the pistil emerges, and following pollination, the stigma is replaced with stamens. An assortment of insects pollinate the flower, which, in common with the rosebay, produces legions of fluffy wind-dispersed seeds. The lance-shaped leaves are a food source for many beasts, including caterpillars of the glorious elephant hawkmoth.

Willowherbs have diverse therapeutic uses, notably as an astringent to clean infected wounds. Young shoots and flowers can be used, albeit sparingly, in salads, and their leaves are brewed to make the pleasant Russian tea 'kaporie'.

Finally, there's a superstition that picking willowherbs triggers thunderstorms. However, I wonder if this could be due to the coincidence of them blossoming in high summer during the thunderstorm season.

MINDFULNESS AND WELLBEING

I really want to help people in the village gain control of their minds, or even just understand how they can do so...

I have taught mindfulness in the workplace and am qualified in life to do this. I think I can help people in the village.

This will be a free event, at the village hall, where I will present:

- How I broke my brain and how I mended it
- How to quieten a busy mind and silence your inner critique
- Coping strategies you can use to deal with everyday stress
- How to identify if you're getting stressed
- And, importantly... who to call if it gets too much

BYGONE BOSWORTH

Images from the Historical Society's Archive Collection

It is a truism that we don't know what we've lost until it has gone, [Ed: apologies to Joni Mitchell...] which is especially relevant when we consider the grand country houses that have been lost, often in living memory.

In Bosworth we have lost Highfields House and Fernie Lodge and, as we noted a while back, locally we lost the grand Edwin Lutyens and Gertrude Jekyll confection, Papillion Hall near Lubenham.

Closer to home, we lost the subject of this month's picture, Sulby Hall, a truly monumental pile by the renowned Neo-Classicist architect, Sir John Soane, built in 1792/3 and unceremoniously demolished in 1952. Soane was responsible for numerous great Regency country houses, the remodelling of the Bank of England in the City, Dulwich College Art Gallery, and his design for his late wife's mausoleum inspired Sir Gilbert Scott's design for the red phone box...

A new book, Sulby Hall, by local historical author, Elizabeth Taylor, covers the history of Sulby Hall, its ornamental gardens and its residents from the creation of the building to its demolition over 150 years later.

The book sketches the lives of the colourful owners of the Hall throughout the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and is illustrated with many previously unpublished photographs.

Hardback 110 pages. Over 120 illustrations in black and white and colour. Limited print run. Price: £18.00 (cheque, cash or bank transfer) p&p £4.00.

MORE BOSWORTH IN FOCUS

BOSWORTH SKY AT NIGHT

Astronomy from your Backyard

Humankind has looked up at the stars for thousands of years and made out shapes from the positions and locations of them - a kind of joining up of the dots to make a picture. They used common place objects in their lives to name these pictures and called each shape, or area of the sky, a constellation. Maybe because they had darker skies with no light pollution they could make out these shapes as what they depicted, such as Capricorn (the Goat) or Aquila (the Eagle). Despite practising astronomy for most of my life, I can see very few of these constellations as being the object they have named them by. There are a few though such as The Plough or Hercules that are recognisable and another of these, in my opinion, is the constellation Cygnus (the Swan). [See the diagram, right]

Also known as the Northern Cross, as it features a prominent crucifix asterism, Cygnus is located within the Milky Way and derives its name from the Latinized Greek word for swan. It is right overhead now in September and the swan seems to be flying towards the south-western horizon.

The bright red star in the diagram, on one of the swan's wings, is actually not there at the moment but scientists predict it will appear sometime soon so keep a close eye on Cygnus over the next few months to spot this exploding star. Astronomers explain they have discovered a dim binary star 1,800 light years away at this location consisting of two suns closely orbiting each other. They are getting increasingly near to each other and when they collide it will produce a red nova stellar explosion making the system suddenly 10,000 times brighter and with a reddish tint. Glad I'll be nowhere near it when this happens!

Watch the Husbands Bosworth Village face book page for details of another Village Star Party in September.

CHURCH NEWS

All Saints Parish Church & St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church

ALL SAINTS CHURCH NEWS

In preparing for our weekly Wednesday 10.00am Holy Communion service at All Saints Husbands Bosworth, I read the following verse from the Bible. "I have loved you with an everlasting love; therefore I have continued my faithfulness to you." Jeremiah 31:3

I was struck once again by the powerful truth that you and I don't earn God's love. We couldn't earn it even if we tried.

Also, I noticed that it is a powerful reassurance to us that the love God has for us doesn't wax and wane according to our performance, our reciprocal love for God, our obedience to God's commands, etc..

Our love for God, or lack thereof, doesn't influence God's own free choice to love us, infinitely, and second by second!

Certainly, we are called to respond to God's love, to adopt God's values and priorities and that involves coming to hate sin and to do battle against its pernicious effects in our lives, our families, our workplaces, our communities, our nation.

But we must never believe the lie that the reality of our sin affects God's love for us!

In Christ we are forgiven of our sin; we are declared to be righteous; we are an adopted child of the Lord God; we are the apple of His eye; we are loved with an everlasting love and we can count on the faithfulness of God being shown to us forevermore!

As we gather for Holy Communion, we pause at the start and we take a long hard look at ourselves. We notice, we own up to and we accept our failures. We come to God, we admit our failure, we look it in the eye and we ask for God's forgiveness.

Because of Jesus, his death and resurrection, we are promised that forgiveness is granted to us. We can then come into the presence of God Himself, clean, renewed, pure, ready to encounter Him in worship and Holy Communion.

The deepest fact of human existence is not our ability to mess things up, but God's ability to set things right. Holy Communion is a wonderful place of renewal, reconciliation, restoration. A place of hope and transformation. You are all invited...

HARVEST FESTIVAL

All Saints Church is hosting a Harvest Festival Service in conjunction with the primary school on Wednesday, September 28th at 10.00am. Children, parents and anyone from the village will be very welcome to join us. Tea and coffee after the service.

If you can contribute towards our 'harvest' that would be great! Our harvest gifts will be donated to Lutterworth Food Bank, so canned foods, packets, toiletries or small treats will be a lovely way to thank God for his ever bountiful Harvest of our lives...

WATER WATCH...

Hopefully this advice may be a bit late, but if the drought continues and readers are reminded to save cold water run off from hot tap to wash vegetables. You can then use the washing water to water plants....

PROPOSED NEW 'SUPER' JAIL AT GARTREE

The Planning Inspectorate has confirmed a public inquiry will be held to decide the Ministry of Justice's planning appeal to build a new prison at Gartree.

In April 2022, Harborough District Council's planning committee unanimously refused the application; an appeal from the Ministry of Justice against the decision was received this month.

The public inquiry will be held at the Harborough District Council offices, in Adam and Eve Street, Market Harborough, starting on Tuesday 4 October and continuing 5, 6, 7 and 10 October 2022.

The public, or other interested parties, can attend the inquiry.

The Council will forward all public and consultants' comments, previously made on the planning application, to the Inspectorate.

New representations should be sent directly to The Planning Inspectorate at Room 3/26, Temple Quay House, 2 The Square, Temple Quay, Bristol BS1 6PN or online at <https://acp.planninginspectorate.gov.uk> quoting appeal reference APP/F2415/W/22/3300227.

The Inspectorate asks that all representations must be received five weeks from the appeal start date (22 June 2022) and must quote the appeal reference.
